

Main Break Repairs Underway in Scotch Plains; Customers in Union County Asked to Conserve Water

Issue Date: 07-31-2012

Main Break Repairs Underway in Scotch Plains; Customers in Union County Asked to Conserve Water

New Jersey American Water crews began repairs this morning on a 48-inch main break in Scotch Plains along Portland Avenue near Watchung View Place. It is estimated that repairs will be completed within the next 24 hours. While repairs are underway, customers in Scotch Plains, North Plainfield, Warren, Fanwood, Watchung and surrounding communities in Union County may experience low water pressure.

New Jersey American Water customers in Union County are asked to conserve water. Once repairs are completed, customers may experience cloudy water and should simply run their water until it's clear before use.

Thank you for your patience while we make these repairs.